

They're the thread that pulls everybody together. They're "that band called Thread."
A Pop-40, alternative rock band.

Thread plays the rock favorites of every generation. Guitarist and founder Mark Ensmenger notes, "People do not leave when we are on stage. That's a big thing with us. No matter what crowd is in the house, we can keep them interested for hours."

Thread has played to packed houses, starting with a dinner crowd in the early evening, and then effortlessly switching gears later in the evening. Michael from Royal 66 calls the repertoire of Thread a "jukebox shuffle."

Mike from Counterpoint says, Thread is a great band to work with, they are great with our staff, no problems will always bring a crowd and cater to the crowd. They are great guys, and just great to work with! Thread is welcome to play here any time!
